

PETER of COLDENHAM

Twenty Dollars Reward.
RAN away from the subscriber on the 19th instant, a negro man named PETER, about 22 years of age, tall and of a yellowish complexion. He fled precipitately from his work in fear of a deserved correction. He only had on him a flannel shirt, a short jacket without sleeves, a pair of leather breeches, and woollen stockings. As this was the case, it is supposed that he must have been harboured by some ill-disposed neighbour, as not the least intelligence has been had of his being seen since. Any person taking up the said negro twenty miles from his master's house, and bringing him home, shall be entitled to the above reward of twenty dollars and all reasonable charges paid; but if in the neighbourhood, within twenty miles, then only ten dollars.
